HB161 - Rep. Lipscomb - State Government - First Read: 4-FEB-25	Under existing law, the Division of Construction Management within the Department of Finance, is required to adopt state building codes and state energy conservation codes. The codes apply only to state public buildings, public schools, hotels, and movie theatres. The codes do not apply to private residential or nonresidential buildings and structures. Also under existing law, each county commission and municipality may adopt local building codes for its jurisdiction. The codes are enforced at the local level. This bill would require the Division of Construction Management to periodically update the state building code in accordance with the most recent model building code published. The state building code would be expanded to include all nonresidential buildings, but the expanded applicability of the building code to such nonresidential buildings would not supersede any rules, regulations, or building codes of a Class 1, Class 2, or Class 3 municipality unless the municipality gave its consent. This bill would allow the governing body of a county or municipality to adopt a local amendment or modification to the state building code to authorize increased protections within the applicable county or municipality. This bill would allow a local governing body to request the Division of Construction Management to amend or modify the state building code to be less stringent and would authorize the amendment, if adopted, to be applied statewide or only locally. This bill would also provide that the Division of Construction Management is the primary authority to enforce the state building code with respect to certain types of buildings, and that local governing bodies may enforce the building code with respect to other nonresidential buildings. HB189 - Rep. Garrett - State Government - First Read: 5-FEB-25	Under existing law, prior to awarding a public works contract that exceeds one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), a state or county awarding authority is required to advertise for sealed bids in a newspaper of general circulation once a week for at least three consecutive weeks in the county or counties in which the improvement will occur. If a municipality is the awarding authority, it must advertise for sealed bids at least once in a newspaper of general circulation published in the municipality where the awarding authority is located. However, if a newspaper is not available, the awarding authority shall advertise by posting notice on a bulletin board and also by sending notice by mail to all registered persons. This bill authorizes the expansion of acceptable methods an awarding authority may use to advertise for sealed bids on a public works project that exceeds one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000). This bill will provide a safe harbor for state, county, and municipal awarding authorities to have the advertisement requirement deemed satisfied if the awarding authority complies with more than one of the awarding authority complies with more than one of the allowable methods but one of the methods of advertising fails through no fault of the awarding authority. This bill will further provide a safe harbor which deems the advertising requirement satisfied if the Department of Transportation complies with one of the approved advertising methods, the selected method of advertising fails through no fault of the department, and the department advertises on its publicly accessible website for the required number of weeks.
